President's Message

After many, many years as a ski and golf leader with responsibility for a limited number of members, it is quite a shift to be responsible for the entire club. But the Board process of moving through several different positions provides the training needed to feel comfortable. The biggest asset a new president can lean on, however, is the rest of the Board, who support the club so well and perform magnificently in their chosen roles.

Mother Nature is currently rewarding the many members who kept the faith and conditioned on the limited manmade snow, crud and rocks. That conditioning paid off and has enabled us to be in shape for powder, trees and shrubs sticking their heads up everywhere. Weather forecasts continue to look good, so we may make up completely for the slow start.

That said, ski season is half over and it's time to think about many other club activities. There will be plenty of snowshoeing, hiking and biking starting in the mud season. Everyone should try at least one new activity. Who knows, you may really like it. The key to all our activities is to keep active, socialize and make new friends.

A challenge for many members is to consider being a leader of an activity. It would be ideal if every member was a leader once. Pick an activity you like, let the current leader know of your interest and gain some insight into what is involved. Then let the club coordinator know of your interest. For anyone a bit concerned about being a leader, remember that all leaders were once followers.

As your new Board jumps into action, remember we are here to provide you with the best possible activities. Let us know about any new ideas you may have for future activities. Most of all, have a great time with your friends and acquaintances in the club!

John Logan
President
